Horses Attack ! Woman Killed

She was selling greens door-to-door in Gayathripuram

MCC staff seen capturing the horses that killed the woman at Gayathripuram this morning. Picture right shows residents trying to revive the woman who was attacked, but in vain.

Mysuru, Dec. 18 (RK&KS)- In a first-of-its-kind incident, a 55-year-old woman was killed when stray horses attacked her at Gayathripuram 1st Stage here this morning.

The deceased is Parvathamma, wife of late Koosaiah and a resident of Muneshwaranagar in Udayagiri. She leaves behind two sons and three daughters.

According to the residents, Parvathamma was selling greens by going door-to-door when five stray horses, which were fighting on the road, suddenly attacked her at about 10 am.

Though the residents managed to chase away the horses to a distance, Parvathamma had already suffered serious injuries with blood oozing from her mouth and nose.

The residents gathered around and tried to revive her while also calling an ambulance but by the time the ambulance arrived, Parvathamma had breathed her last. Her body was taken to her residence in another vehicle.

Meanwhile, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Veterinarian Dr. Suresh arrived at the spot along with his staff to capture the horses.

The team from MCC managed to capture all the five stray horses, loaded them into a goods vehicle and took them to the MCC Cattle Shed at Sewage Farm.

Now, the MCC officials are on the look out for the owners of the horses.

Dr. Suresh said that the owners of these horses would be traced and criminal cases initiated against them.

No complaint or case was filed or registered when we went to the press.

Meanwhile, the residents alleged that the area lacks cleanliness besides stating that meat and chicken wastes being dumped in the area was attracting a lot of dogs, rats and snakes making it difficult for them to walk in the area freely.

The residents of Gayathripuram have now demanded that the MCC initiate stringent action against those dumping wastes indiscriminately and also requested the authorities to stop cattle and horse owners from letting their animals loose on the streets across the city.

It may be recalled that about two years ago, an elderly woman was attacked by a horse near Kukkarahalli Lake Railway Gate, leaving her badly injured.

Hanur Temple Tragedy

Death toll rises to 15

Chamarajanagar District Minister visits hospitals

Mysuru, Dec. 18 (MTY&SR)- The death toll following poisoning of prasadam at Hanur temple in Chamarajanagar district rose to 15 with the demise of another victim Dundamma (50) at Cauvery Hospital here this morning.

Deceased Dundamma

Doctors attending to the poison victims at various hospitals in the city said that most of the patients were responding well to the treatment and recuperating.

However, the condition of two patients at K.R Hospital is critical, according to hospital sources. Most of the patients who are undergoing treatment are likely to be discharged in the next two days after approval from the District Surgeon, the sources added.

Doctors said that it might take a couple of days to declare the patients out of danger as the pesticide residues may take a long time to discharge from the human body.

Today too there was a steady stream of visitors to K.R. and other private hospitals from various villages of Chamarajanagar and Kollegal.

More than 90 victims of the tragedy continue to undergo treatment at K.R. Hospital, JSS Hospital, Apollo BGS Hospital, Suyog Hospital, Cauvery Hospital, Columbia Asia Hospital, Brindavan, Bhanavi, DRM and Shanthaveri Gopalagowda Hospitals in the city.

Beyond beauty of Birds

While most poets writing their lines about birds in general and their favourites in particular fascinate themselves and their adoring readers glorifying the flight at great heights and over long distances across the planet earth as well as the magical colours of their plumes adorning the headgear of monarchs and women with captivating looks, poet Valmiki's narrative in mythology portrays two birds focused on their heroics, one mounting a valiant assault on the Lankan King abducting Sita that proved fatal and the other surviving to pass on the crucial information that finally led to what readers of his narrative know very well. Incidentally, the two birds were brothers. A fable closely resembling the story of Valmiki's birds is also traced to Greek mythology of astonishing vintage.

Description of birds by poets and lay bird-lovers doesn't present their other distinguishing features than aspects of beauty, including their ability to fly effortlessly. Biologists have described the winged species as characterised by feathers, toothless beaked jaws, laying hard-shelled eggs, high metabolic rate, four-chambered heart and a strong lightweight skeleton. They live worldwide, ranging in size from the 5 cm humming bird to the 2.75 m (9 feet) Ostrich, comprising nearly 10,000 living species. Some species are known to be intelligent which also make and use tools.

We learn from scientists that the process of evolution heralding the emergence of bird species spans nearly 60 million years, the point of time that saw the extinction of the giant lizards such as dinosaurs. The contribution of birds benefiting us in many ways seems to have been lost at wondering about (a) The crow as nature's scavenger, (b) The homing pigeon as messenger, (c) The cuckoo for its melodious voice, (d) The vultures which clean up carcasses of animals and (e) The owls that hunt rats in dark, while their staple diet is insects. If the ongoing interference in the life of birds threatening their habitat, as it has happened in the case of the house sparrow, a rarity in urban spaces, continues in the name of development, we are sure to be overrun by insects to an extent beyond one can visualise.

While human beings are chopping down trees with disdain causing extensive deforestation, birds are known for dispersion of seeds in their aerial journey over vast areas. They are not asking for any reward for their selfless service to the rest of the species, which owe a debt of gratitude to the winged species, the beauties nonpareil.

LET US PAUSE AND THINK: What is education? One can clearly see that equating education to English language proficiency would be misinterpreting education completely. Secondly, education is for the development of head, heart and hand, as described by Gandhiji. It cannot be narrowly judged by the kinds of jobs that one gets at the end of schooling or by fluency in English. Every child has immense potential to grow in varied ways to develop into a rational, productive, ethical human being. Limiting education to narrow purposes of securing jobs and proficiency in English is a disservice to humankind. — Arun Naik and Nisha Butoliya in Deccan Herald.

Family shocked after pet 'Puppy' turns to be a bear

Kunming: A family in Yunan Province, China, who had bought a Tibetan Mastiff puppy two years ago had to give it up after it grew into a 250lbs black bear.

Su Yun, who lives near the city of Kunming, bought the puppy while on vacation. At the time, she thought she had paid for a Tibetan Mastiff puppy, one of the most highly-regarded dog breeds in China, and didn't much care that it was sold by a random man on the side of the road. The price was good and the puppy certainly looked like it was going to grow up to be an impressive specimen.

When her dog started walking on his hind legs, Su couldn't ignore the obvious anymore – the Tibetan Mastiff she had bought had grown into an Asian Black Bear. But she had become attached to him, so she kept him.

A tail-wagging robot pillow

Tokyo: Japanese company Yukai Engineering Co. has developed Qoobo, a two-pound robotic pillow that sits on your lap and wags its fluffy tail when you pet it. That's all it does, but then again, that's all the interaction some people want.

Whether they are allergic to cats and dogs, live in an apartment that doesn't allow real pets, or just hate things like meowing, barking and having their furniture scratched, some people just want to stroke their pet and see them wagging their tail. And that's where Qoobo comes in.

Its main feature is the robotic tail, which apparently moves differently depending on the way you pet it. The "headless cat" also vibrates when you stroke it, emulating the rumble of a purring feline. Its creators claim that Qoobo has an eight-hour battery life and can be recharged by USB.

The bizarre robotic pet was unveiled at the CEATEC 2017 trade show, and is expected to become commercially available next summer, for around $100.

Utter chaos near sub-urban bus stand

Sir,

As a concerned Mysurean, I would like to bring to the notice of the authorities the plight of people standing in front of the sub-urban bus stand.

We have inter-city buses coming one after the other and making an entry into the sub-urban bus stand. At the same time we have the city buses coming from Hardinge Circle. There is a commotion when these two meet !

There is a bus stop for city buses just after the intersection for the passengers to alight. This I feel is a disaster waiting to happen. When more than one city bus comes, they stop haphazardly. People run helter-skelter to get into these buses and it is a mad rush during peak hours.

Also it is a nightmare for the elderly competing with other commuters. The buses stopping haphazardly next to each other or behind each other escalates the confusion. We have designated stops for the city buses after they cross the sub-urban bus stand. I know it would be difficult for people to walk back to bus stand if alighted there, but it will clear a lot of crowd caused due to this confusion at the intersection and create more space.

I urge the authorities concerned to look into this pressing issue at the earliest and find an alternative.

—Dr. S. Akhila

Indira Canteens go 'hungry'

Coalition Government fails to clear bills of food contractor since seven months

Mysuru, Dec.18 (MTY&SR)- While people calm their hunger pangs at Indira Canteens, the canteens per se are 'starving,' thanks to the State Government that has not released funds since seven months.

Indira Canteen, one of the ambitious 'food for all' projects of the State Government that was launched first in Bengaluru during August 2017 and then in Mysuru during January 2018 to make the two cities 'hunger-free' by serving affordable and clean food to the poor, is facing a crisis situation as funds have not been released for day-to-day maintenance.

As the State Government and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) have not cleared dues, the food contractors are running the show themselves and are now struggling to meet ends due to paucity of funds.

Indira Canteens are a pet project of former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah and the intention of launching this project was to ensure that the poor are not deprived of food. While there are more than 100 canteens in Bengaluru, Mysuru has eleven across the city. It serves vegetarian breakfast, lunch and dinner. While breakfast is served for Rs.5, lunch and dinner costs Rs.10.

The MCC launched the canteens in January this year and a New Delhi-based company operates them. Food is supplied from two centralised kitchens located at Alanahalli and Kumbarakoppal.

On a daily basis, each canteen serves about 500 breakfast, lunch and dinner — a whopping 1,500 plates a day. This scheme has received good response from students, daily wagers, autorickshaw drivers and other public.

Though Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy promised to continue all the old schemes initiated by the Siddharamaiah government including Indira Canteens, sources said that dues to the food contractors have not been cleared ever since the Congress-JD(S) coalition Government came to power.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Mysuru Indira Canteen food contractor M.V. Madhu said that the payment for preparation and supply of food has been withheld since May. Food is served at subsidised rates at Indira Canteens and the implementing agency (MCC) must pay an equal amount of charge for the food contractor as per the agreement.

A large number of people consume breakfast and lunch at K.R. Hospital, near CADA Office and other canteens located at Central Business District while the numbers for dinner is low according to sources. "We have to purchase items like rice, vegetables, pulses and spices from the market on credit and traders cannot endlessly wait for the payment to be released," he said.

Madhu said he has got an assurance from MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha that dues will be cleared soon. He said that they have been supplying food items without compromising on the quality and quantity despite the delay in money release.

"The poor have not been deprived of their meal. We have been maintaining the quality and we have not cut down the quantity. Our sole intention is to provide affordable and quality food to the poor and people from economically weaker sections of society. We hope the funds are released soon for this public-friendly scheme," Madhu added.

State BJP Yuva Morcha General Secretary B.Y. Vijayendra enquiring about the health of a Hanur Temple Tragedy victim who is undergoing treatment at a hospital in city yesterday.

'Centre working in industrialists favour'

CITU General Secretary Tapan Sen alleges at BSNL Employees Union meet

Mysuru, Dec.18- The schemes and the policies of the Central Government are completely anti-farmer and anti-labour, lambasted CITU (Centre of Indian Trade Unions) General Secretary Tapan Sen. He was speaking after inaugurating the four-day, 9th All India Convention organised by BSNL Employees Union at Jayamma Govindegowda Kalyan Mantap in Kuvempunagar here yesterday.

The Central Government in order to encourage the Ambani Group is planning to close down many telecom companies including BSNL in the country and planning schemes in favour of capitalists, he charged.

Even though the price of petrol can be brought down, the Government is not willing to do it. The Government's main aim is to close down public sector companies and favour the Ambani and other private sector companies. This is nothing short of exploiting those working in the public sector, he said.

When asked to waive farm loans, Prime Minister Modi asks the farmers, 'does money grow on trees,' but industrialists have loans to the tune of Rs.5,526 million. Just to return the favour to Ambani and Adani who had contributed to his campaign expenses, Modi is forgetting the interest of the ordinary people and favouring them, he said.

BSNL Gen. Secretary P. Abhimanyu speaking said that the Centre is adopting anti-people's policies. Modi Govt. is favouring Ambani to monopolise Telecom sector. After entry of Jio, many companies have stopped their operations. A few of the companies have merged with others. BSNL is working under such difficult conditions, he added.

Hinduism triumphs over Hindutva

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

This column has said more than once that the greatness of India lies in its majority community voting, not as Hindus, but as Indians. By far the most dramatic — and comforting — confirmation of this has been provided by the latest election results.

The drama is contained in basic population figures. Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh constitute the heartland of Hindu India. In Rajasthan 89 percent of the population is Hindu, in Madhya Pradesh 90 percent and in Chhattisgarh 93 percent. By contrast only 80 percent of the people are Hindu in Uttar Pradesh, only 83 percent in Bihar. Which means that it is the States with the largest number of Hindus that have rejected the BJP. Remember that the BJP had raised its Hindutva pitch as electioneering progressed. The VHP added its bit by holding a massive rally in Delhi demanding Ram Mandir in Ayodhya rightaway. Simple, ordinary voters exercised their franchise to show their disapproval of this communal approach to politics. Their action strengthened India as well as Hinduism. Hindutva's politics of polarisation stood exposed.

The results shocked the party that had come to consider its triple strengths as invincible — the brilliance of the Prime Minister's oratory, the win-anyhow philosophy of the party President, and the Machiavellian genius of the establishment's legal pundit cum Finance Minister. Each of them is unmatched in his field. But all of them shared a fatal weakness — overconfidence that led them to believe they were always right.

They were often wrong. The Prime Minister was wrong in constantly denigrating Jawaharlal Nehru. The first Prime Minister of the country did make mistakes, but all the statue-building and oratory of the BJP cannot dent Nehru's historical importance as an architect of modern India. Party boss Amit Shah stooped lower still with his contempt for the snakes and mongooses, the dogs and the cats that teamed up against his party. Now that the snakes et al have been approved by the people, will the party chief concede that in the eyes of the citizens of this country, including the majority of Hindus, he is nothing more than an overrated manipulator?

Arun Jaitley is the brainiest of them all and therefore the damage he does goes deepest. He is the only BJP leader to whom Narendra Modi feels obligated. And for good reason.

It was Jaitley who first proposed Modi for the Chief Ministership of Gujarat. It was Jaitley who defended Modi when Prime Minister Vajpayee himself was inclined to "punish" Modi for the Gujarat riots. It was Jaitley who proposed Modi for Prime Ministership over the objections of seniors like Advani, Murli Manohar Joshi and Sushma Swaraj. It's no surprise that Jaitley became the most powerful person in the Modi Government despite the fact that he could not win an election.

Every significant political move in the last four years carries the Jaitley stamp. It was he who thought up the Electoral Bonds, a devious way to channel funds anonymously to political parties. The Election Commission itself objected to it, but Jaitley didn't care. His drive to bring the Reserve Bank under the Government's control has been relentless. Urjit Patel's resignation was more shocking than Raghuram Rajan opting not to seek a second term because Patel had initially given the impression that he was pliant and obedient. Evidently even he found the Government's demands unacceptable. These demands boil down to accessing the Reserve Bank's assets for the Government's politically-motivated spending schemes. No other Finance Minister had taken liberties with the RBI's autonomy and assets. What Jaitley proved in the process was that he had no qualms about distorting even the foundational principles of the country's economic structure for political purposes.

> "Major policy initiatives of the last four years reflect the same authoritarian approach: Demonetisation that wrecked the lives of citizens in unprecedented ways, Goods & Services Tax that complicated the system instead of simplifying it, inaction on bad loans by banks that benefited party cronies."

Major policy initiatives of the last four years reflect the same authoritarian approach: Demonetisation that wrecked the lives of citizens in unprecedented ways, Goods & Services Tax that complicated the system instead of simplifying it, inaction on bad loans by banks that benefited party cronies. Arun Jaitley welcomed occasions to dwell on these issues, more than any other party leader. The frequency of his television interviews is an example. On all those occasions he justified every self-centred anti-people move with an air of grandeur that suggested that people who disagreed with him were mentally retarded.

Those people have now told the BJP that communal passions have no place in politics. Will the BJP pay heed, or will it turn vengeful? Power in Delhi is in its hands for another quarter. Power is a hydra-headed beast and a quarter year is a long time. Momentous days are upon us.

Median Strip Gardens to enhance city's beauty

The median strip pot garden near Hardinge Circle. [Pic. by Pragathi Gopalakrishna]

Mysuru, Dec.18 (RK,NNN&BCT)- Roads are sporting colours and so are the medians. The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is gearing up for Swachh Survekshan survey from Jan. 4, 2019 to Jan. 31, 2019.

As a first step in this regard, it has started to beautify the city by placing pots on concrete medians (median strip garden) where ornamental and eye-catching flowering plants are being planted.

The median strip or central reservation is the reserved area that separates opposing lanes of traffic on divided roadways, such as divided highways, dual carriageways, freeways and motorways. The term also applies to divided roadways other than highways, such as some major streets in urban or suburban areas.

These median strip gardens enhance the beauty of a particular road. While the concrete median will have black and yellow colour stripes, the flower pots will sport green and white colour.

As a pilot project, such cement concrete medians with pots have been put up at two places — one on Sayyaji Rao Road near Bamboo Bazaar and another near Hardinge Circle in the heart of the city.

The Horticulture Department is planting saplings like Kanagale (Oleander, Rose-bay), Crown of Thorns, Christ plant (Euphorbia Milii), Crepe myrtle (Lagerstroemia indica), Peacock flower, Poinciana (Caesalpinia pulcherrima) and Agave. However, these plants fortunately cannot be eaten by cattle that roam the city streets.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, MCC Development Officer Nagaraj said that the MCC has come up with this idea of beautifying the city by making the cement concrete medians look more aesthetic by placing pots on them and planting flowering plants. Once the approval is given by the Corporation Council then the same will be replicated in other parts of the city, he said.

The concrete medians have replaced the iron barricades as they were looking ugly and were spoiling the beauty and aesthetics of the city, he added.

"I think the response for this project will be good, incredibly positive and lasting. The MCC must do it on all roads so that the roads sport international looks. If only the MCC re-asphalts and marks the roads, the city will once again be the Cleanest City in India," said Bhanumathi, a resident of Sayyaji Rao Road.

Series levelled at 1-1

Perth, Dec.18- India crumbled in the face of Australia's remarkable metamorphosis and crashed to a 146-run defeat in the second Test here Tuesday, surrendering a rare hard-earned ascendancy in a series Down Under.

Kannur Airport to boost tourist arrivals to Mysuru, Kodagu

Delegation from Mysuru Travels Association invited to visit Kannur Airport

FIRST FLIGHT: The Air India Express that took off from Kannur International Airport on Dec. 9, 2018.

Mysuru, Dec. 18 (UNI)- Tourism industry in Mysuru and Kodagu is hoping for a surge in tourist footfall, thanks to Kannur International Airport, a Greenfield Airport in Kerala, which was inaugurated on Dec. 9.

Stakeholders in Mysuru argue that the airport has opened a new gateway for tourism development as Kodagu and Mysuru is closer to Kannur and can eventually improve connectivity between the two States boosting tourism.

The closest airport from Madikeri, Virajpet, Gonikoppal and Kushalnagar is Kannur and tourism stakeholders are hoping that the new airport may prove a big advantage for tourist footfall in the coffee land.

The distance between Madikeri and Kannur Airport is just 90 kms and Virajpet to Kannur Airport is 59 kms. From Gonikoppal, it is 91 kms. Kushalnagar, a commercial town surrounded by tourism hotspots, is around 125 km from Kannur, while the distance between Mysuru and Kannur Airport is 158 kms.

"Certainly, the airport will benefit Kodagu, both in terms of business and tourism. Whether the benefit will be felt immediately has to be seen. But tourists travelling by road from Bengaluru Airport may prefer Kannur Airport to reach Kodagu," said Kodagu Hotels, Resorts and Restaurants' Association President Nagendra Prasad.

Kerala's fourth international airport in Kannur is expected to serve more than 1.5 million passengers annually. With the opening of Kannur International Airport Ltd. (KIAL), Kerala has become the only State in the country to have four international airports with the others at Thiruvananthapuram, Kochi and Kozhikode.

The Rs. 1,892 crore-airport, located at Mattanur, over 2,000 acres, is the fastest completed airport in the country according to airport officials. The airport has a runway suitable for operating 'Code E' aircraft, like Boeing B-777 and Airbus A-330. It will be extended later for operation of 'Code F' aircraft, like Airbus A-380.

According to tour and travel operators in Mysuru, some section of tourists wishing to visit Mysuru and Madikeri may opt to travel via Kannur Airport instead of Bengaluru's Kempegowda International Airport.

Mysuru Travels Association (MTA) has been invited by the authorities for a tour of the Greenfield Airport in Kannur.

Confirming this, MTA President B.S. Prashanth said that the tour and travel operators from Mysuru will soon be visiting Kannur to take a look at the facilities at the airport.

"Mysuru is the transit route to Madikeri and Kodagu may become the new transit zone to Mysuru if tourists prefer flying to Kannur instead of Bengaluru when they plan their vacation to the 'Land of Coffee'. Tourism is booming in Kodagu with scores of home stays and popular hill resorts to unwind," he said.

The new airport also opens access to tourists planning to visit Wayanad and Ooty — the other two popular hill stations in South India. The road connectivity from Kannur is said to be good further pushing tourist arrivals to Kodagu. Prashanth said the airport would open a new gateway for tourism development and eventually improve connectivity between the two States, thereby boosting tourism

People flying to Kannur need not have to bother about traffic to reach their destinations — Madikeri or Mysuru — unlike from Bengaluru. Reaching the city from Kempegowda International Airport at Devanahalli near Bengaluru and thereafter to Mysuru under bumper-to-bumper traffic on the busy National Highway is a challenge for tourists, who fly into the State capital.

"If you provide good and hassle-free connectivity, people will definitely patronise," the stakeholders claim. "The traffic doubles in weekends with the travelling time stretching up to four hours between Bengaluru and Mysuru. Barring the ghat section, the drive is smooth between Mysuru and Kannur," Prashanth said.

The spurt in home stays and luxury resorts in Kodagu has made it one of the busiest hill stations in South India. According to statistics, Kodagu has over 35,000 rooms at home stays, hotels and resorts. The number has increased only in recent years. A lot of top-end and luxury resorts have come up across the hill station and mid-size bungalows are getting converted into home stays.

Centre issues guidelines for home stays

New Delhi, Dec. 18- With the aim of standardising facilities across home stays and bed and breakfasts in the country, the Tourism Ministry has issued new guidelines to such establishments.

Properties where their owners or promoters physically reside will be designated as home stay establishments, while those where only an agent or operator resides will be designated as bed and breakfast (B&B).

These guidelines will constitute the Common National Standards. Each State and Union Territory will be free to build upon them to suit their requirements, while keeping the core tenets intact. The properties will be categorised as silver and gold on the basis of the facilities they offer.

The Central Government said that a property would be classified in a two-stage procedure under which the presence of facilities and services would be evaluated against a checklist. "Due preference will be accorded to the homes, which are able to provide Indian experience by way of Indian decor, authentic and exotic Indian cuisine, etc.," according to the guidelines.

"Formulation of the Common National Standards was imperative to standardise facilities and services that would be available to tourists in B&B and home stay establishments across the country," an official statement said.

Cable operators meet to discuss Centre's new guidelines on charges

Protest march on Dec.20

Mysuru District Cable TV Operators Welfare Association President Mohan Kumar Gowda said that urging the Centre not to take up TRAI's new guidelines and continue with the old rules, the Association Members will take out a Protest March on Dec.20 from the Park opposite City Law Courts Complex to the office of the Deputy Commissioner where they would submit a memorandum in this regard. The Association will also submit memorandums to MPs Pratap Simha and R. Dhruvanarayan.

Mysuru, Dec.18 (PM&DM)- With the Centre issuing new guidelines on charging cable customers, which would result in high rent for cable TV customers and expensive cable connections, cable TV operators, under the banner of Mysuru District Cable TV Operators Welfare Association, held a meeting at the Park opposite the City Law Courts complex here yesterday morning.

Addressing the cable operators, Association President M. Mohan Kumar Gowda said that hitherto the cable operators were charging a rent of Rs.250-300 per month in urban areas and Rs.150-200 per month in rural areas for a single connection, which enabled the viewers to watch channels of all languages.

But the Centre's recent guidelines based on TRAI's (Telecom Regulatory Authority of India) recommendation requires the operators to charge Rs.300 to 400 a month for every single language, which becomes highly expensive for cable TV customers to watch channels of all languages, he said adding that the Centre's new guidelines was not only unscientific, but also a heavy burden on common man and middle-class families who have TV cable connections.

Strongly objecting TRAI recommendation and the Centre's guidelines, the cable operators will pass a resolution on the future course of action, to protest against the TRAI's decision, Gowda said.

Mysuru District Cable TV Operators Welfare Association office-bearers Boregowda, N. Manjunath, P. Anand, Ravikumar and others attended the meeting.

WORD OF THE DAY

Zibeline

Pronunciation: ZIB-uh-leen.

Meaning: A soft lustrous wool fabric with mohair, alpaca, or camel's hair.

Origin: Though zibeline is woven from the hair of alpacas, camels, or Angora goats, its name actually traces back to a Slavic word for the sable, a small mammal related to the weasel. The Slavic term was adopted into Old Italian, and from there it passed to Middle French, then on to English in the late 1500s. English zibeline originally referred to the sable or its fur, but in the 19th century it developed a second sense, applying to a soft, smooth, slightly furry material woven from a mixture of animal hairs. It's especially suited to women's suits and coats, or, as a fashion columnist in the December 6, 1894 issue of Vogue observed, "Zibeline ... makes an exceedingly pretty, warm theatre cloak, not too fine to be crushed into the small one-chair space."

Example: The colour and hatching for zibeline is the same as the sable (black) tincture, and the colour and hatching of marten is identical with the gules (red) tincture.

THE ODD WORD

Ensorcell

To enchant or fascinate someone.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Zero tolerance

Meaning: A form of policing that allows no crime or anti-social behaviour to be overlooked.

Origin: As the name of a form of policing this term came into use in the USA in the 1970s. This method typically involved allocating additional law-enforcement resources to areas where some form of crime, example mugging or prostitution, was endemic and then applying the strict and uncompromising letter of the law. The term was reported in The New York Times in December 1972. Federal officials say the calculations were based on 'assuming zero tolerance' from now on for ineligibility and overpayments. The device makes it possible to set four tools at once. After the tools are set up, they return to their exact positions without special attention from the operator.

Example: Howard County has a zero tolerance policy on alcohol use by teenagers.
